ON THE TIP OF THE TONGUE

Sunday was a little too cold to drive a very large crowd to Midway Park, but during the concert hours the attendance was very large. The concert was well rendered and their popularity seems to be well established.

Milo Conklin captured a live possum and nine young ones which were riding around in her vest pocket, Saturday morning, near Milo. He brought them to this city and exhibited them to several hotel proprietors to whom he hoped to sell them, but he was unsuccessful. The young ones were about as large as small rats and they clung to their hiding place like grim death to a negro when their captor endeavored to display them. The only way they could be coaxed out was by holding the mother possum up by the tail and shaking her vigorously, when a youngster or two could be dislodged. The mother had two vicious rows of teeth, but she made no dangerous attempt to bite her captor.

They were painting a boat with lead when a carpenter put his head in the room of Giles Brothers' shops, Saturday, and asked:

"Going to put two coats on it?"

"Oh, you're going to put one on top of the other!"

"Yes, can't get 'em between very well."

A trolley car struck a cow on the park line, Sunday night, but she was not badly hurt. A passenger distinguished himself by jumping off the car and calling out: "Has any one a pistol so I can put this cow out of her misery?"

The cow galloped away in safety before the gutter out of misery could find a gun.

Spring overcoats and light sneakers were brought out Saturday and Sunday nights by trolley riders. The temperature sank so low that these articles were actually needed. Numerous colds are the result of riding unprotected on these chilly nights.

The electric fountain at Midway Park was operated Sunday night, with fine effect. It was watched by many who regretted that more seats were not provided at that point in the park. The water shoots high in the air in thin spray, and beautiful colors are thrown upon it by the aid of powerful lights and reflectors.

The most gayest man in this city on Saturday, as a result of the prize fight, was Billy Allison Davis. For weeks Billy has theoretically proven J. Edgar to be about "thirty cents." He has given advice to those who feared married life and late hours might injure Fitz's fighting ability, and not a few made small wagers on the strength of it. All day Saturday the telephone in the electric sign store rang and many called at the store to jolly "Billy" until he was glad when night came.

The school for the instruction of the blind in New York city, in which Gregory, son of James G. Martin, of this city, is fortunate enough to be a pupil, is doing a noble work, and doing it right well. The sixty-third annual report of the managers is a most interesting document, and the outlines given of the courses of study show that pupils who graduate from this school are well equipped from an educational standpoint. Technical instruction is also given in many branches, and if pupils have any musical talent it is carefully cultivated. William B. Wait, the very efficient superintendent, in his report calls attention to the interesting and gratifying fact that there is a steady decrease in the number of blind children of school age in New York city.

A Son's Tribute of Love and Gratitude

To the people of Middletown and elsewhere, who have by their deeds of love and remembrance endeavored to alleviate my mother's sufferings and make beautiful the sunset of her life. I extend this greeting:

"I have seen her time to fall, And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath, And stars to set; but still— Two best of all—these own, O dear!— The curtain falls, life's play is ended, all that is mortal is consigned to earth, all that is eternal lives and rejoices in another world. My mother's life was as an April sky, sunshine and cloud. To her, life's wreath of flowers contained no thistles, and in the garland that she wore

"There's rosemary, that's for remembrance And there's pansies, that's for thoughts." She had no fear of death and looked upon life's dissolution with serene composure and the utmost tranquillity. Her mind reflected its brightness almost to the last, and her great sociability, even on her deathbed, was noticeably marked as though her germs were to live forever.

And now in the presence of the dead, I carry out her wish and make public acknowledgement of the countless deeds of love and friendship, which were constantly shown her, even to life's close. To each and all I extend my heartfelt thanks, and were she here to-day a thousand sacrifices, a thousand self-denials, would be instantly recompensed by her approving smile and infinite satisfaction.

I know it is hard to say goodbye, to realize the loss of a mother's dear companionship, but through the filmy mists of tears, through struggles, sorrows, death, I see beyond an angel's face and finger pointing upward.

"I'm hard to part when friends are dear, I know 'till cost a sigh, a tear; 'Tis sweet to say 'goodbye' to friends, but in some brighter clime I'll meet you soon." W. H. McQuinn.

Philippines Driven From That Province After Hard Fight.

INSURGENTS ARE ARTFUL DOGGERS

Several Thousand Warriors Escape Capture Under Cover of the Night, and Many Who Were Fighting Suddenly Become Friendly.

MANILA, June 12.—The Filipino occupation of the province of Cavite has been broken, and as the result of the present movement the Americans now control the important coast towns of Paranaque and Las Pinas, while a long line of insurgent trenches facing our south line has been cleared.

The insurgents have again proved their facility as doggers, between 3,000 and 4,000 warriors who seemed destined to be captured having disappeared, the majority sliding away under cover of the night after fighting the Americans all day. Some came to meet our troops with professions of friendship.

The Thirtieth infantry lost one man killed and six wounded; the Ninth infantry, one man killed and five wounded; the Fourteenth infantry, three wounded, and the First Colorado volunteer regiment, 31 wounded.

Saturday's work was the hardest our army has ever seen. The battlefield stretched out across the isthmus from Laguna de Bay to the harbor. The United States monitor Monahock and the gunboat Helena shelled Paranaque and Las Pinas all day with the full power of their batteries.

The rebel sharpshooters kept in hiding until the American lines had passed and then attempted to pot stragglers from the trees. This was their only marksmanship, this was without result.

At the outset the Colorado, the Ninth infantry and the Twenty-first infantry forced the line of insurgent trenches, wheeled to the left and drove the enemy toward the lake. During this maneuver the Filipinos in concealed trenches on the right, opened an enfilading fire, but the brigade, partly owing to the high grass, had few hit.

The Ninth infantry crept around to the right, flanking the trenches, driving out the Filipinos and drove them out. Lieutenant Colonel Moser, being wounded in the arm as he jumped into the trench.

In the meantime General Wheaton's column advanced one and a half miles toward Paranaque, where the Americans found a strong trench on a ridge, out of which they drove the Filipinos by hard fighting.

The enemy tried to flank the dismounted troops of the Fourth cavalry, accompanying Major General Lawton, and at the same time they made their only advance, throwing a skirmish line of about the Fourteenth infantry. But they were easily repulsed, the American artillery coming to the crest of the hill and shelling them.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon General Wheaton's brigade, headed by General Lawton, who, in his white clothing and helmet, on a big black horse, was a shining mark for the enemy's sharpshooters, crept to the south of Las Pinas, encountering a large force of Filipinos in the middle of the town. General Lawton had a narrow escape. In the first volley of the enemy the horses of three of his staff officers were shot from under them. The Colorado regiment bore the brunt of this attack and dispersed the Filipinos.

Finally the rebels fled off to the rear, where a large force appeared in the rear, which the Ninth infantry and a part of the Colorado regiment drove away. By this time nearly the whole division was around Las Pinas.

The articles were rained for the night south of the town and in the midst of a heavy rain.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning General Wheaton advanced upon Las Pinas with a troop of cavalry, the Twenty-first infantry, the Colorado regiment, part of the Ninth infantry and two machine guns, crossing two streets and entering the town without firing a shot.

He then advanced upon Paranaque. The women and children, and for that matter, many men, remained in the town. No houses were destroyed, though many were torn by the shells from the warships. Everywhere the Americans found white flags flying.

So far as can yet be ascertained the Filipino loss is about 500, and about 350 wounded and 20 taken prisoners.

The whole country is networked with trenches, and the enemy skurried from shelter to shelter.

Long trains of commissary wagons are carrying provisions to the United States troops along the road which only yesterday was the stronghold of the enemy, and the natives who were probably carrying guns are now doing their hats and groveling before the Americans with effusive greetings of welcome.

Finally the rebels returned to barracks in Manila last night. As the ragged and dusty men marched past the Luneta, the fashionable gathering place for Manilaites, they were heartily cheered.

Movement a Great Success.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The war department has received a report from Major General Otis of the military movement to the south of Manila for the purpose of clearing out the rebels in that section. It shows that the movement was a great success and that the enemy's loss was considerably greater than stated in the press dispatches. General Otis' cablegram is dated Manila, June 11, and is as follows:

"Terrible heat yesterday did not permit troops to reach positions at hours designated; enabled majority of insurgents to escape in scattered organizations south and westward, which they effected during the evening and night. Movement great success, however; enemy disorganized and routed, suffering heavy loss; troops resting today at Las Pinas and Paranaque. Navy did excellent execution along shore of bay, but many insurgent detachments crept in that direction protected by priests and children, whom they drive along with them. Our loss four killed and some 30 wounded. Report of casualties later. Conservative estimate of enemy's loss about 400."

Weather Probabilities.

HAIRING AGUINALDO.

William Lloyd Garrison Says We Are Blaspheming Patriots.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—At the forty-seventh annual meeting of Progressive Friends at Kennett square William Lloyd Garrison bitterly attacked the American policy in the Philippines. His address was on "Imperialism and Betrayal of the Democracy."

Mr. Garrison said in part: "A government founded on the principle of the right of the people to choose their rulers is engaged in the effort to deprive a distant and alien nation of the same right. With spurious professions of love of liberty, it declares that the only possible terms with the Filipinos is absolute subjection. For this end it is taking the same attitude and using the same excuses that might have always employed in a contest with right."

After quoting Abraham Lincoln as saying, "No man is good enough to govern another man without the other's consent, but when he governs himself and also governs another that is more than self government—that is despotism," Mr. Garrison continued:

"From Aguinaldo, the enlightened and heroic leader of the Filipinos, comes this resolute utterance, written at Cavite, June 18, 1898, at the headquarters of Admiral Dewey:

"I proclaim in the face of the whole world that the aspirations of my whole life and the final object of all my desires and efforts is no other thing than your independence, as independence means for us the redemption from slavery and tyranny, the reconquest of our lost liberty and our entry into the concert of the civilized nations."

"Little could he have dreamed when he penned those inspiring words that the countrymen of Abraham Lincoln were to undo in savagery the vanishing Spaniards and to make the name of America even more accursed by his hunted and butchered compatriots."

"To Aguinaldo, fighting in the same cause for which John Brown died, sustained by the same hopes and aspirations, our sympathies are due, as were the sympathies of all lovers of liberty to John Brown."

"We are a great American nation, and the blood of patriots stains our hands. Helpless, as in a nightmare, we cry out in agony, and Christian ears are deaf. In hypocritical professions to democratize the possession of Spain we have imperialized ourselves."

DIED OF STARVATION.

Errell Claimed on His Deathbed to Have Aided Bidwell Soldiers.

NEW YORK, June 12.—If he told the truth, Edward Errell, an old man who died at Bellevue hospital last evening of starvation, was the assistant of the Bidwells when they perpetrated their treacherous forgeries on the Bank of England in 1872. Errell said at the hospital that he had steadily employed as an engraver with a firm of jewelers in Union square when Austin Bidwell went to him and hired him to go to England to help in the forgeries. He would not tell who his New York employers had been. They had always treated him well, he said, and there was no reason why he should drag their name in. When the Bidwell gang was broken up, Errell drifted back to this country. Misfortune and trouble had followed him from the day he first met Austin Bidwell.

Errell was found at Fourth avenue and Sixteenth street on Saturday night helplessly weak. He told the police that he had not eaten for four days and that he had been driven away from every place where he went to ask for food or the chance to wash himself. He had even been prevented from washing himself in horse troughs. The surgeons at Bellevue found that his story of starvation at least was true. He was so weak that they could not save him.

To Abolish Dynamic Monopoly.

BLOOMINGTON, Orange Free State, June 12.—It is asserted in official circles here that President Kruger will propose to the Transvaal and the abolition of the dynamic monopoly. While the Orange Free State is pining its influence at Pretoria to obtain reforms for the outlanders in the Transvaal, the railway company has sent all its available rolling stock to Johannesburg to be in readiness for a possible exodus of the population.

Will Take Place of Strikers.

TOLEDO, June 12.—Thirty street cars left Toledo for Cleveland last night to take the place of striking street car men. They will be followed by another party.

"Take it back"

—go to some grocer who will give you Pearl-ine. That's the only way to do when they send you an imitation. The popularity of Pearl-ine begets the habit of calling anything that's washing-powder, "Pearl-ine." Those who notice the difference in name, think perhaps "it's about the same thing." It isn't. Nothing else equals Pearl-ine, the original and standard washing compound.

"And so I was," replied the reverend gentleman. "I had an attack of indigestion and from that time on my whole system has been in a disordered condition until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla which has put me on my feet and cured all my stomach troubles."
"I don't doubt," said the lawyer, "This same medicine cured my wife of rheumatism and my little girl of scrofula. When they say it's the best medicine you can buy, they only tell the truth."
"Yes, yes, so they do," replied the minister, and the two passed on.
"He That Any Good Would Win"
Should be provided with good health, and everyone who would have good health should remember that pure, rich blood is the first requisite. Hood's Sarsaparilla, by giving good blood and good health, has helped many a man to success, besides giving strength and courage to thousands of women who, before taking it, could not see any good in life to win.

The Hudson Valley Journal says Rose park in that village abounds with corn-pond and pilot snakes. It was formerly a swamp and the snakes have made it their headquarters. A very desirable place for ladies and children to visit.

—"Ignorance of Law Excuses No One."
This maxim applies with especial force to ignorance of the laws of health. Every man and woman of intelligence knows the physical fact that the blood reaches the remotest parts of the human body. If there is a disturbance anywhere, why should one ignorantly suppose that the seat of the malady is local?

It is not more rational to suppose that the impure condition of the blood is doing the mischief, as it is? Experience has demonstrated the fact that this is the case in 95 per cent. of complaints.

If your "life's blood" is pure, nature will take care of the rest. Hood's Sarsaparilla enables you to cleanse your blood of all impurities and make it strong and wholesome. It never disappoints.

—"Ignorance of Law Excuses No One."
This maxim applies with especial force to ignorance of the laws of health. Every man and woman of intelligence knows the physical fact that the blood reaches the remotest parts of the human body. If there is a disturbance anywhere, why should one ignorantly suppose that the seat of the malady is local?

It is not more rational to suppose that the impure condition of the blood is doing the mischief, as it is? Experience has demonstrated the fact that this is the case in 95 per cent. of complaints.

If your "life's blood" is pure, nature will take care of the rest. Hood's Sarsaparilla enables you to cleanse your blood of all impurities and make it strong and wholesome. It never disappoints.

Ulcer.—"A little sore on my ankle grew until as large as a saucer. Doctors said it was an ulcer and incurable. After two years' experimenting I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and the sore completely healed." Mrs. J. C. CURRIE, West Lebanon, N. H.

Goitre.—"Goitre was so expensive in medical attendance that I let mine go. It made me a perfect wreck, until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla which entirely cured me." Mrs. THOMAS JONES, 120 South St., Utica, N. Y.

Rheumatism.—"I was practically helpless from rheumatism in my shoulder. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me and ever since is a household favorite." Mrs. M. E. POWERS, 4812 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Running Sores.—"Five years ago my affliction came, and nothing sore on my leg causing me great anguish. Hood's Sarsaparilla healed the sore, which has never returned." Mrs. A. W. BARNETT, 39 Powell St., Lowell, Mass.

Dyspepsia.—"For many years I suffered with dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and its continued use entirely cured me." HARRY T. MORRIS, 100 Mulberry Street, Newark, N. J.
